

WSPRS Service Credit

Service Credit and Contributions

A Washington State Patrol Retirement System (WSPRS) member earns one month of service credit for each month in which he or she earns basic salary for 70 or more hours. A WSPRS member who earns basic salary for less than 70 hours in a specific month does not earn any service credit in that month.

Note: For any earning period, retirement contributions are due on all basic salary earned regardless of the number of hours a member works.

A member who needs more information about service credit should contact Washington State Patrol Retirement System.

Optional Service Credit

In some circumstances, members may also earn service credit for military leave, cadet service or disability leave. A member who needs more information should contact the Washington State Patrol Retirement System.
